Bush Studies

Bush Studies is a short story collection by Barbara Baynton.. Bush Studies was published in London in 1902. Baynton's short stories and novel display a grim realism and depiction of female suffering which represents an alternative view to the romanticism of the bush.

Bush Studies - Wikipedia

First published in 1902, Bush Studies is a collection of short stories set in the Australian outback of her day. While the stories certainly convey the harsh conditions, I felt that Baynton made scathing commentary on the harsh, crude and vulgar behaviour particularly of the men, and particularly toward women.

Bush Studies (1902) is a collection of short stories which explore the dark side of the Australian bush experience: loneliness, isolation and danger. The stories, often depicting female suffering, are grimly realistic in contrast to the masculine romantic notions of the outback as represented by Henry Lawson and Banjo Paterson. All six stories ...

As Ned's harangue suggests, Baynton's subject is birth and death. Four stories in Bush Studies centre on a death - two, a death by shocking violence; in the third, murder and theft are averted by the previous death of the intended victim, but his faithful dog is butchered instead. The two remaining stories are shocking in their departure ...

Bush Studies - Reading Australia

Barbara Baynton's book of short stories, Bush Studies, has fascinated me for years, because there's so much that is deceptive, as well as utterly transgressive, about it. Written at the very end of the nineteenth century, the stories within it are mostly delivered in a deadpan narration that means the violence at their centre often builds so quietly and subtly that their eruption is as ...

Bush Studies | Barbara Baynton | Essay by Fiona Wright

Bush Studies, le recueil de nouvelles de l'écrivain australien Barbara Baynton, fut publié en 1902. Pendant longtemps on considéra ses nouvelles comme mal écrites, le travail typique d'une femme qui ne savait pas contrôler ses émotions. Cette communication prétend qu'en fait Baynton a délibérément utilisé l'oblique afin de critiquer la mentalité masculine dominante.

of three bush miles to her mother's home. Still it was the home of her girlhood, and she knew every inch of the way. As she passed along the sleeping street, she saw no sign of life till near the end. A light burned in a small shop, and the sound of swift tapping came to her. They work late tonight, she thought, and, remembering their
